

Can I still apply for financial aid if I don't have a high school diploma or GED?

All first-time SBVC students without a high school diploma or a GED enrolling in classes on or after July 1, 2012, will not be eligible for federal financial aid as a result of the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2012 passed by Congress. This law applies to all colleges and universities.

Students without a high school diploma or GED can still apply for scholarships and the Board of Governors (BOG) Waiver if they meet income and residency qualifications.

For more specific information, contact the Financial Aid Office in the Administration/Student Services Building (AD/SS) Room 106.
